

Andrea Garelli

Dati personali

Andrea Garelli

A/B

Male

Italian

Lingue

Italian

English

Profilo

A professional skilled in applying behavior modification principles to encourage students to achieve their educational and professional goals. Bilingual in Italian and English, specializing in surgery and aesthetic medicine. A professional attentive to student engagement, with solid skills in defining study content and managing online and classroom courses. Offers 10 years of teaching experience. A successful professional with experience in creating engaging and effective curricula. Capable of adapting teaching materials to industry standards and student abilities. Eager to teach students practical skills as part of a comprehensive English program, demonstrating talent in motivating students to read and write, resulting in significant improvement in general and specific skills.

Esperienze lavorative

Contract Professor

2023 apr - oggi

ALBANIAN UNIVERSITY, TIRANA, Albania

- Supervision of research and assistance in publishing results.
- Presentation of research papers at conferences, seminars, and workshops.
- Preparation and implementation of curricula focused on course topics.
- Commitment to developing students' skills through practical training.
- Planning and directing study and practice activities to provide a balanced learning program, offering students the opportunity to observe, question, and investigate.
- Enhancement of learning and citizenship skills to promote personal growth and expand school knowledge.
- Introduction of practical and laboratory activities into the curriculum to foster receptive learning and stimulate student interest.
- Lesson planning, course materials, and assignments based on textbooks and the program.
- Use of various teaching tools to meet the needs of students with different backgrounds and learning styles.
- Evaluation and supervision of student activities to document progress.
- Use of multimedia strategies and technologies to facilitate learning.
- Use of creative teaching methodologies to promote student learning objectives.
- Development of curricula appropriate to course topics and the program.
- Conducting interesting and varied group activities to engage students in studying the material.
- Promotion of the acquisition of new professional skills aimed at obtaining certifications, developing leadership, and financial education, thus increasing employment opportunities.
- Monitoring student progress through ongoing assessments of computer skills.
- Development of educational plans that positively impact student motivation and learning processes.
- Collaboration with administrators on behavioral issues to support the needs of all students.
- Creation of a solid and lasting relationship with students.
- Preparation of educational objectives consistent with the standards established by the school and relevant authorities.

Contract Professor

2020 gen - oggi

UNIVERSITY OF TOR VERGATA, ROME, RM

- Presentation of research papers at conferences, seminars, and workshops.
- Preparation and implementation of curricula focused on course topics.
- Supervision of research and assistance in publishing results.

Trainer

2020 gen - oggi

BIMEDICA SRL, ROME, RM

- Application of the most suitable teaching methods according to student characteristics.
- Identification of learning strategies, study methods, and memorization techniques.
- Preparation of handouts, in-depth materials, and interactive teaching materials using multimedia supports.
- Conducting individual and group lessons, adapting methodologies to the context.
- Organization of stimulating extracurricular activities for students to encourage curiosity and creativity.
- Discussion with the teaching staff regarding student achievements and definition of areas for improvement.
- Evaluation of student results and implementation of initiatives to improve school performance.
- Participation in educational workshops to learn new techniques to support student participation in class.

Freelance Doctor

2008 dic - oggi

ESTETICAMENTE SRL, ROME, RM

- Patient anamnesis aimed at formulating diagnostic hypotheses on the current problem and performing specific tests and exams.
- Reception of patients in the clinic, identification of symptoms and physical and emotional discomfort, recommending specialist visits if necessary.
- Open dialogue with patients about potential pathologies, treatment plans, and lifestyle recommendations.
- Documentation and discussion of medical histories, recent symptoms, and current issues during each visit to keep records up to date.
- Prescription of medications or para-pharmaceutical products, indicating dosage, mode of administration, and duration of treatment.
- Identification of patient health problems following a careful evaluation of vital functions to determine the most suitable interventions.
- Management and recording of patient information using specific software, including archiving certificates, medical reports, and treatment plans.
- Prompt response to emergency situations by administering life-saving treatments.
- Evaluation of patient conditions and responses to stimuli through standardized analyses and tests.
- Participation in medical-scientific conferences and drafting articles, presentations, and abstracts on research work.
- Meeting with more than 10 patients daily in a dynamic environment.
- Evaluation of patients in the emergency room, rapid diagnostic assessment, and execution of emergency tests to identify appropriate treatments.
- Processing orders for laboratory tests and interpreting results to ensure accurate decision-making.

- Adding updated laboratory, demographic, and diagnostic information to the electronic medical record.
- Intervention in the healthcare team in case of emergency delivery, monitoring vital parameters, evaluating the patient, and identifying potential risks.
- Preoperative patient evaluation, information on effects, and assistance during and after surgery.
- Performing aesthetic medicine procedures, including scar removal treatments with dermabrasion or laser.
- Collaboration with colleagues in performing assigned activities.
- Maintaining order and cleanliness of the workstation.
- Quick and precise execution of assigned activities.
- Management of assigned activities independently thanks to acquired skills.
- Management of the assigned workload while maintaining calm and balance.
- Performing activities with attention to detail and ensuring precision in execution.
- Organization of work and optimization of timing to reduce time losses.
- Planning work activities respecting the required timelines.
- Careful listening to instructions and requests, proposing targeted actions.
- Seeking customer satisfaction through a high level of service attention.
- Offering quality service with great customer attention.
- Quick proposal of solutions to unforeseen events and problems in work activities.
- Management of the assigned team and task assignment.
- Performing activities outside one's role to support colleagues and the structure.
- Performing activities aimed at personal and professional improvement.
- Changing location and role when required for work needs.
- Use of communication methods capable of facilitating relationships with different interlocutors.
- Proposal and execution of activities capable of completing and facilitating assigned work.
- Definition of operational methods aimed at achieving assigned objectives.

Associate Professor

2019 gen - 2022 gen

UNIVERSITÀ POPOLARE TOMMASO MORO, ROME, RM

- Supervision of research and assistance in publishing results.
- Presentation of research papers at conferences, seminars, and workshops.
- Preparation and implementation of curricula focused on course topics.
- Commitment to developing students' skills through practical training.
- Planning and directing study and practice activities to provide a balanced learning program, offering students the opportunity to observe, question, and investigate.
- Enhancement of learning and citizenship skills to promote personal growth and expand school knowledge.
- Introduction of practical and laboratory activities into the curriculum to foster receptive learning and stimulate student interest.
- Lesson planning, course materials, and assignments based on textbooks and the program.
- Use of various teaching tools to meet the needs of students with different backgrounds and learning styles.
- Evaluation and supervision of student activities to document progress.
- Use of multimedia strategies and technologies to facilitate learning.
- Use of creative teaching methodologies to promote student learning objectives.

- Development of curricula appropriate to course topics and the program.
- Conducting interesting and varied group activities to engage students in studying the material.
- Promotion of the acquisition of new professional skills aimed at obtaining certifications, developing leadership, and financial education, thus increasing employment opportunities.

Plastic and Aesthetic Surgeon

2011 gen - 2014 gen

DERMOLIFE CENTER, TIRANA, ALBANIA

- Interview with patients to assess their medical history, define the current state, and complete the physical examination.
- Continuous training and updating on healthcare equipment, computerized diagnostics, imaging systems, and industry regulations.
- Prescription of laboratory tests and radiological exams.
- Consultation with patients and families on treatment options and care for pathologies.
- Prescription of laboratory tests, physical evaluations, and specialist visits.
- Recommendation of specialist doctors and hospital admission for further investigations.
- Collaboration with colleagues in performing assigned activities.
- Maintaining order and cleanliness of the workstation.
- Quick and precise execution of assigned activities.
- Management of assigned activities independently thanks to acquired skills.
- Management of the assigned workload while maintaining calm and balance.
- Performing activities with attention to detail and ensuring precision in execution.
- Organization of work and optimization of timing to reduce time losses.

Army Officer

2002 gen - 2005 gen

ITALIAN ARMY, VITERBO, VT

- Supervision of patrolling high-crime urban areas to maintain public order.
- Construction of bivouacs, tents, and emergency structures of all kinds to ensure protection from weather or dangerous situations.
- Conducting operational and tactical operations for evacuation in areas of international crisis.
- Provision of basic medical and healthcare interventions in the event of public calamities, firefights, or in the military field.
- Participation in PEACE operations in Italian and foreign territories.
- Participation in public safety logistics operations following social, health, or political events.
- Coordination of surveillance, patrol, and patrolling services at sensitive sites and targets.
- Personal management of psychophysical stress in the field and in panic situations with full self-control and total safety in the use of assigned weapons.
- Ordinary coordination of lower-ranking Armed Forces personnel, especially during shooting range experiences.
- Assistance to personnel in filling out forms and accurate archiving of battalion documents.
- Verification of the skills of personnel assigned to flight operations before authorizing their tasks.
- Accurate management of electronic and paper records.

Referenze

Referenze disponibili su richiesta.

Riconoscimenti

Autore di diverse pubblicazioni scientifiche nel settore della chirurgia ricostruttiva tra cui:

"loss of substance from the cranial vault: alternative technique in reconstructive surgery." J.craniofac.surg. 2008

"Primary tuberculosis of submandibolar gland"j. craniofac. Surg. 2007

"surgical treatment by extra-oral implants in the auricle reconstruction" I°

European meeting of resident in plastic, reconstructive and aesthetic surgery
Ustica 2006

"surgical treatment by extra-oral implants in orbit reconstruction" I European meeting of residents in plastic, reconstructive and aesthetic surgery. Ustica 2006

Rome

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'A. Palli', is positioned below the text 'Rome'.